Photos	3 minimum to include: Plans/Set-Up, Progress/In Process, After/Completed Project. Photos must be in High Res .jpg format - minimum 150 dpi	This is a visual site and high quality, engaging photos get the most attention. Some additional shots you may want to include are: Tools used, Shopping for materials, Problems encountered and workable solutions, Item in use/play, Inspiration board.
Instructions	Step by Step instructions laid out in numerical form (ie: Step One, Step Two, ...)	As you would with a child, please be sure to lay out every detail and don't take for granted that someone knows how to instinctually do something. Our readers range from first time hobbyists to professional DIY'ers.
Materials	List every item used in the project.	Be sure to include even the smallest items such as a cloth to protect your working space, rubber gloves, or a Q-Tip for detailing.
Suppliers	List the stores and suppliers where you purchased or sourced each material	If you have a recommendation for a specific brand or specific shopping tips please include them.
Inspiration	What inspired you to do this project?	Maybe you desperately needed the item you made and it was quickest to make it yourself. Maybe you wanted to save money so braved doing the project yourself. Maybe you just needed something to keep the kids busy on a three day weekend...

The Story	Do you have a personal story to share about this project?	Maybe you did this project with your father when you were a kid. Maybe you always wanted to do this project as a child and finally got around to it. Maybe your grandmother passed the item down to you and you are refurbishing it for use today. Maybe you plan to make several of these and save them for your grandchildren...
